

Runtime analytical estimates on held-out windows; one development-selected design is frozen across batches. Selected designs are best-evaluated candidates when search proofs remain open; no RTL calibration.